Careless Mothers Who Use Dangerous Purgatives.

A MENACE TO MANKIND EASILY AVOIDED BY

THE USE OF A RATIONAL REMEDY-EVERY MOTHER SHOULD HEED THE WARNING.

The slaughter of the innocents was nothing in emparison with the destruction of infants caused

Not so very long ago the poor little sufferers were usually forced to swallow violent purges, and ft was luck if they got over it all right. The stomach and bowels of the baby are sources constant discomfort. The milk food sours in the baby's delicate little insides, and forms curd, and the fermentation of this undigested substance makes gases which produce wind colic. Then the little people begin to scream with agony, and the excited mother or nurse pours down the physic. That's the time for the use of Cascarets Candy

Cathartic. If the babe be suckling, the mother makes her milk mildly purgative by eating a Cas-caret. Older infants eat a little piece like candy. In all cases Cascarets are mild but positive, never gelp nor gripe, stop sour stomach, move the bow els naturally and put things right as they should

Now, Mamma, buy and try Cascarets today. It's what they do, not what we say they'll do, proves their merit. All druggists, 10c., 25c. or 50c., or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can., or New York.

This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "C C C." Look at the tablet before you buy, and be are of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

RAILWAY MEN'S UNIFORMS

CONTROVERSY OVER THE AWARD OF CONTRACT.

Statement by Official of the Washington Traction Company-Review of the Differences.

During the last few weeks the operating department of the Washington Traction and Electric Company has found it neces-sary to dispense with the services of a number of employes, on the ground that they were not rendering satisfactory ser-vice. The dismissal of these men was the main topic of discussion at meetings of the street railway union-to which some of the employes of the company belong-but no action was taken, because it was generally understood that the company claimed to have good reason for making the discharges, even if that reason was not announced. Lately, however, there has seemed to develop the basis of an issue seemed to develop the basis of an issue between the union and the company, the opportunity being the company's order that its motormen and conductors present their summer uniforms for inspection so that those whose uniforms were not fit for another season, and the new men who have not yet purchased summer uniforms should fit themselves with the proper clothing. The price of the summer uniform last year was $14, and the cap $1.35. The clothing was said to have been entirely satisfactory both to the men and to the company, but it was furnished not by a Washington dealer, but by a Baltimore firm, which has also been supplying the police and fire department. A campaign was commenced against the company and the Baltimore clothier, the agitation being Ballimore clothier, the agitation being based upon the contention that the uniforms could be supplied more cheaply by a Washington house. Last Friday and Sat-urday circulars were distributed among the urday circulars were distributed among the street railway employes urging them to join the union and advancing as a reason therefor the statement that "You have been paying $15.35 for your uniforms. It is a little more than they are worth. Saks & Co. and other local firms will make them and fit you for about $12." Regarded as Unfair.

Some of the railroad folks say that was an unfair statement, anyhow, because the $15.35 included the cap, while not by any possibility could the cap be included in the $12 price. The union had its meeting and adopted resolutions which were promptly adopted resolutions which were promptly made public. Then the case was taken to the Central Labor Union and there were more resolutions adopted confirming and approving the action of the Street Railway Union; all of them based on the idea that the uniform could be bought for $12. Then there were committees from the Street Railway Union and the Central Labor Union to talk matters over with the Trace. Union to talk matters over with the Trac-tion Company.

It is contended in behalf of the railway company that the uniforms could not be sold any more cheaply in Washington than they were by the Baltimore firm, and that the Washington house, which was quoted as being willing to supply the uniforms for $12, had really bid the same price as the Baltimore firm, after the bid of the Baltimore firm had been made public.

The Traction Company officials had little to say about the matter when approached by a Star reporter this proving by a Star reporter this morning, except to announce that in view of the fact that the clothing furnished by the Baltimore firm had been entirely satisfactory and was up to a rigid specification, the Baltimore con-tract would be continued, so far as the supply of summer uniforms for about 100 men was concerned.

supply of summer uniforms for about 100 men was concerned.

It was suggested by one of the officials that one of two other plans might be put in effect when the question of winter clothing comes up for consideration. Either the company would invite bids from Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia on identical specifications—material and workmanship to be subject to the most rigid expert inspection before acceptance—or specifications might be furnished to all tailors who would apply for them, and the men would would apply for them, and the men would to buy their clothing from whom they pleased, provided, however, that it should be subject to the same rigid inspection which would be provided for in the first plan.

Company Not Interested. "The company has no interest in this clothing matter except in behalf of its employes," said one of the officials this morning. "The company and the public expect the men to wear decent uniforms and the company will, so far as it may properly do so, endeayor to protect the men from impo-sition. If satisfactory uniforms can be pur-chased for $6 the company would have no objection to offer, but even then it would be reasonable to expect that some interested but unsuccessful bidder would talk vaguely about a $5 suit until confronted with the proposition to sell the goods. There has been some criticism because we have not dealt exclusively with local firms. The reason for this is apparent to any one who cares to give the matter brief consideration. If there was a clothing factory here—and it seems as if there ought to be no local corporation with any interest in this community would go elsewhere to purchase uniforms. We know, though, that these uniforms would have to be made elsewhere than in Washington, and we also know that if the contract were awarded to a Washington house at figures parallel with those given us by reliable outside firms, the Washington house would not make any money out of the transaction. Where, then, is the advantage of dealing with the mid-

The situation is entirely devoid of novelty. The reasons which have prompted us to do the best we could for our employes also moved the police department and the post office authorities, and the officers of the High School Cadets to deal directly with the makers. If injustice has been done any one in this matter we are not aware of

"Furthermore, let me say that no employe of this company has made any complaint to any official either as to the cost or the quality of the uniforms which have been furnished. This company believes in Wash-ington and can be depended upon to buy of Washingtonians whenever the material or the price offers any inducement, but we can see no reason why an existing and sat-isfactory contract, by which the rights of our employes are amply secured, should be terminated in response to agitation which has been and is being fomented by ex-employes whose interest in uniforms has ceased and for whose services we no longer

FLATTENED THE "LANDS." Damage to Gun by Premature Bursting of a Shell. The Navy Department has received an official report on the bursting of a shell from one of the Kentucky's guns. The report says the explosion occurred at the instant the shell left the gun, so that the full force of the concussion was not conveyed to the gun. It was sufficient, however, to do some damage to the forward part of the weapon, and for two inches around the inner muzzle the "lands" are entirely flattened out. These "lands" are a succession of slight elevations and depressions, for the purpose of accurate rifling, and the terrifle force of the explosion is shown by the entire disappearance of the "lands" for a depth of two inches. This does not, however, cripple the gun in any way, and there will no necessity for repairing it. It was one of the big thir-teen-inch guns of the Kentucky, and the shell which exploded weighed something over 1,100 pounds. The shell was one of those furnished by private ordnance con-cerns, and cost $1,450.

Punishment of Cerilo Canido. General orders emanating from the division of the Philippines contain the record of the trial by military commission of one Cerilo Canido, a native, charged with forcible abduction and murder. The specifications in the case alleged that the native was one of a band of outlaws which carried away a certain native, who has never been seen since, and also that the accused participated in the abduction and murder of still another native. The accused pleaded "not guilty," and while no witness to the crimes charged could be found, other evidence made it appear beyond reasonable doubt that the native on trial was an active participant in the crimes stated. He was sentenced to be confined at hard labor for fifteen years, and this was an
